WHEN OLD TIMERS MET

Rockland's Veteran Ball Players Given Further Evidence That Vinalhaven Is the Best Place On Earth.

"The best time we ever had," was the universal comment of the group of men who journeyed Monday to Vinalhaven. The occasion was the annual ball game and get-together of the Old Timers of Vinalhaven and Rockland an event which is looked forward to each year by everyone who is able to qualify.

Arriving at Vinalhaven at 2.45 the Rockland veterans were met at wharf by autos and taken to the field where for a time the players exercised and got the creaks and groans out of their ancient muscles.

The spirit of the occasion, as exhibited by the Islanders, is shown when the stores of the town are closed and all or nearly all the population turn out at the ball park to enjoy the sport. The stands were full and there were people standing in the field.

The features of the game—well they were many. The spectacle of a 62-year old man pitching a good steady 9-inning game was a rare one. Burns seems to improve with age and for five innings Rockland did little with his pitching. Karl for Rockland did a good job while Postmaster Veazie, who relieved him, showed dazzling speed and wonderful change of pace.

The real star was Thornton who played a whale of a game at third, while his batting was heavy. Sanborn, McLeon, Flint and White made good catches.

The outstanding feature was of course the wonderful sliding to bases of "Dykie" Cohen. He gave an exhibition which could be equalled by few. The foot race between Smith of Vinalhaven and McLeon was won by the former. After the game both teams returned to the I.O.O.F. hall where the banquet was served. And, Oh, such a feed! Here was where the old and decrepit shone. None was too old to play the game. City Marshal Webster and Assistant Postmaster Chatto were going strong when Toastmaster Griffin called a halt and saved their lives. Beside the good things usually provided by the hosts the table was adorned by a large cake sent to the members of the ball team from the family of Arthur Patterson, one of the founders of Old Timers' annual reunion, it being his 60th birthday. Toastmaster Griffin introduced the members who were strange to each other and called for speeches. Almost everybody was so full of lobster and the other good things that he could hardly make himself heard. Bill Flint was the exception. He and Tom Chisholm were in excellent voice and most everybody on the island heard them.

A basket of fruit and a bouquet of flowers were sent to Arthur Patterson by the members of both teams and a bouquet was presented to Billy Burns, who was so surprised he could not speak, for once in his life. After the speeches all adjourned to the hall above when Manuel Bernard, the talented brother of Harry Cohen, presented an informal program of piano music.

The return trip across the moonlit bay on such a wonderful night surely was a climax to a perfect day. Those who went for Rockland were: Milton M. Griffin, W. I. Ayer, Capt. Ross Wilson, Manuel Cohen, City Marshal Webster, Sheriff Harding, George St. Clair, Harry W. French, Thomas Chisholm, William Flint, Frank Rhodes, Charles Thornton, Postmaster Veazie, Harry Cohen, Elmer Larabee, Wallace McLeon, A. C. McLeon, David Hodgkins and Harold Karl.

Following is a summary of the game:
Rockland—Cohen c, Karl p, Veazie p, Larabee 1b, Hodgkins 2b, Thornton 3b, Chisholm ss, McLeon lf, Flint cf, Ayer rf, St. Clair rf, Griffin rf.
Vinalhaven—G. L. Snowman c, W. H. Burns p, C. L. Boman 1b, B. K. Smith 2b, D. Mills 3b, L. Sanborn ss, E. Nickerson lf, I. Fifeid cf, F. White 2b.

Rockland.....1 0 0 0 6 3 3 4—15
Vinalhaven.....1 0 0 1 0 1 0 2 0—5
Base hits, Rockland 18, Vinalhaven 4. Errors, Rockland 3, Vinalhaven 4. Bases on balls, off Karl 2, off Veazie 2. Struck out, by Karl 6, by Veazie 1. By Burns 4, Two-base hits, Karl, Sanborn, Three-base hit, Thornton. Double play, Sanborn, Smith and Boman, Umpire, Harry Snow.

TRIBUTE TO WHITE

Is Paid By Vice Chairman E. C. Plummer of the U. S. Shipping Board.

High tribute is paid to Congressman White, chairman of the House committee on merchant marine, by Hon. Edward C. Plummer vice chairman of the United States Shipping Board.

Commissioner Plummer says that Congressman White made a complete study of the shipping situation, prepared the shipping measure which bears his name only after he had given each section the most careful consideration, and then was able to see its enactment by his constant and untiring energy.

"Congressman White is an able member of Congress," declares Commissioner Plummer, "devotes great study to the matters brought to his consideration, stands well among his colleagues and is a man of whom the State of Maine should be proud."

MRS. BOK'S GIFT

Matches Her Husband's Hospital Contribution With Another $5000.

Recent visitors at the Knox County General Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Bok of Philadelphia and Camden, who made a tour of inspection of that institution, and had many warm words of approval of what they saw of its equipment and management. Both, it will be recalled, were liberal givers to the campaign of two years ago, testimonial to which appears upon the door of one of the private rooms in the new east wing, in the form of a bronze plate bearing the inscription, "Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Bok's Room." The room, which is tastefully furnished, is available for the general uses of the hospital, except at such times as it might be required for any member of the Bok family.

Following this visit Mr. Bok, already noted, sent unsolicited his check for $5,000 for the hospital's present campaign.

Mrs. Bok yesterday followed her husband's generous example with an additional $5,000 contribution.

ALL GAINED WEIGHT

Twenty-Eight Rockland Children Had Fine Time At Christmas Cove.

The 28 children who spent two weeks in the S. A. Miles Christmas Cove Camp returned to this city Monday. Many of the children look much improved in physique. Adjutant Phillips, superintendent of the Camp, says: "The last contingent of children (of which those from Rockland were a part) numbering 112 has shown a gain in weight from three to eight pounds for each child."

The camp is arranged to bring about the best results, with the sea on one side and the woods on the other. A staff of efficient workers assists Adjutant and Mrs. Phillips in the work of taking care of the children, and from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m. the program is arranged to build up the children both in body and mind. Physical exercise, swimming, hiking and sea canoeing in operation. In the woods, singing to develop lung force, with a menu for the children so planned as to produce muscle and brawn.

The Camp is owned by S. A. Miles of New York and is supervised by the Salvation Army. If more citizens could make it convenient to run in and see the camp in operation, it would add to its success in caring for the under-nourished children of our cities, as this camp is open to children all over the State of Maine, who would have no other vacation.

Captain Geo. Winsor of the Rockland Corps of the Salvation Army, wishes to thank the members of the Rotary Club who used their cars to bring the children home from the camp to this city. W. A. Glover of W. H. Glover Co., Fred Linekin of the Rockland Garage, H. P. Blodgett of the Central Maine Power Co., Raymond E. Thurston of the Thurston Oil Co., and A. F. McAlary of the Camden & Rockland Water Co. secured these cars.

BUSINESS AND POLITICS

"Kib" Is Satisfied That They No Longer Conflict.

Political campaigns in my native home of Tenants' Harbor are the only ones that interest me these days. With such good general candidates I can see no reason for business to be apprehensive of the present Presidential campaign. In my boyhood days there were times when political uncertainty was fraught with dangers to general prosperity. In my opinion it will make practically no difference to business what candidates are elected in November, so far as business prosperity is concerned. I think the result of the election will be of little significance one way or the other.

There was a tradition among my old and respected neighbors that Presidential years were bad for business. The vital features of that relation have disappeared but the tradition more or less survives. In the entire period since 1880 there has not been an election year when there was less reason than now for business to be affected. I can remember when business men could not secure loans from the banks. This was followed by scares of other sorts, at a time when the Greenback movement was loudly preached. In 1908 we had another depression partly due to the hey-day of "trust-busting."

I have reached a conclusion, impossible 25 years ago, that business and finance have become emancipated from politics. On economical questions the country is better informed and better equipped than ever before. Neither party has any desire to interfere with honest business. In driving an auto there are three important things to consider, the car, the road and the traffic. We are not influenced by what is happening somewhere else. Business is the same. Its promoters must understand their equipment, the course and the traffic, to be encountered. They should realize that business is business not politics.

"PAT" STANDS WITH WIFE

Distinguished Member of Supreme Bench Will Support Gardiner and Hoover, and Tells Why.

William R. Pattangall, Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court and for several years the acknowledged leader of the Maine Democracy will support the Republican ticket in both the state and nation in the coming elections according to a statement made by him yesterday. The action of Judge Pattangall follows that of his wife, Mrs. Gertrude M. Pattangall, for nine years a member of the Democratic National Committee from Maine who announced last week that she could not support Gov. Smith as a Democratic presidential candidate because of his prohibition stand, or Edward C. Moran Jr., of Rockland the Democratic candidate for Governor, because he disagrees with the party platform on the question of the exploitation of water power from the State.

Justice Pattangall, one of the leading members of the Maine bar, said his lot with the Democratic party when he became a voter. He later joined the Republican party and as a member of it served in the lower branch of the legislature from the Machias class in 1897 and 1901. He again became a Democrat about 25 years ago and as such was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress against the late Gov. Powers in the Fourth District.

He has served two terms as attorney general, three times as mayor of Waterville, two terms in the House of Representatives from Waterville, was a Democratic candidate for Governor in 1922 and 1924 and has been three times a candidate for Congress in the Third District.

Justice Pattangall's announcement comes in the form of a letter which he sent to the editor of the New York World. The letter follows: "Charles Michaelson in his Washington letter of July 29, published in your morning edition of July 30 under the sub-title 'Families Are Divided' makes the statement that 'Mrs. Pattangall, wife of the most prominent Democrat in Maine, is opposed to Smith because he is Wet, while her husband who was a Democratic candidate for Governor in the last election is trying to bring Maine into the Democratic column.'"

"I accepted an appointment as associate justice of the Supreme Court of Maine two years ago and since then in accordance with the traditions of our bench I have taken no part whatever in partisan politics. "I do not intend to do so this year, but I still enjoy the privilege of voting and in view of Mr. Michaelson's statement I think it not improper to state that my family is not divided on the proposition and I think it is a present duty of Democrats who are interested in the ultimate good of their party to vote in September for the Republican candidate for Governor and in November for the Republican electors."

"I am moved to take this position because of my very sincere belief that the control and management of the Democratic party in my State and in the Nation has for the time being passed into hands not properly qualified to administer the affairs of government."

LOCAL FRATERNITIES BENEFIT

Aurora Lodge and Claremont Commandery Receive $2500 Each From Will of Late Edward R. True.

The late Edward R. True of Washington, D. C., by whose will, probated Monday the First Baptist Church of Yarmouth will receive $5,000 in trust, throughout his life generously has remembered the Yarmouth church, this gift bringing the total to $18,000. Besides this he had been a contributor for repairs and alterations. These gifts have been in memory of his father and mother, the late Louis and Eliza Titcomb True.

Mr. True was born in North Yarmouth 40 years ago last January. As a young man he came to Rockland, where he was employed in a bank, rising to a position of some prominence. During the first administration of President Lincoln, Mr. True went to Washington and was employed in the Treasury Department until his retirement 15 years ago, being cashier of the department at the time of his death. He was married twice, and leaves a son by his second marriage, Edward Russell True, Jr., who graduated from Amherst College in 1927, and is a student at Harvard Law School.

Mr. True's will disposed of an estate of $630,000, the bulk of which goes to his son and to nephews and nieces. Aurora Lodge of Masons of Rockland and Claremont Commandery, Knights Templar, also of that city, each receiving $2,500 by the will.

During the last week in June Fred W. Wight, assistant to the director of the Bureau of the Budget, called upon Mr. True, who had then been sick about four months. The invalid was greatly cheered by this opportunity to talk over the old days, and the gossip which Mr. Wight was able to furnish him in his characteristic manner. His last message, sent by Mr. Wight, was to be remembered kindly to all who might know him.

ACCIDENT MAY BE FATAL

Truck and Lime Rock Railroad Train Collide This Morning—Lauriston Mank Worst Hurt of Three.

What may prove to be fatal injuries were sustained by Lauriston Mank this morning when a Ford truck containing Mr. Mank, William Brown and Ernest Cayting, was in collision with the Limerock Railroad train at the Cedar street crossing.

The truck was coming down Cedar street, and a trainload of empty cars was proceeding in the direction of the quaries.

According to the story told by Cayting to Patrolman E. C. Ingraham the auto brakes were not working well. When the driver saw that a collision with the train could not be averted he turned to the right, the same direction that the train was going.

The truck was overturned. Mr. Mank was pulled out of the wreckage unconscious and together with Mr. Brown, who was dazed from cuts and bruises around the head, was taken to Knox Hospital in the Burpee ambulance. His condition was regarded as very serious when this paper went to press.

Cayting also had bruises about the head.

KENT'S HILL SEMINARY

Another Big Reunion At South Thomaston Will Be Held Aug. 18.

"Kent's Hill Sem" will have a reunion at Wessaweskeag Grange hall, South Thomaston Saturday, Aug. 18. The program calls for socializing from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., with business meeting and entertainment from 3 to 6 p. m.

Basket lunches will be taken, the committee to furnish steamed clams, fish chowder and hot coffee. But members are invited to attend even if unable to furnish a basket lunch. Take sweets, fruit and soft drinks. Auto parties should go via Rockland, following Main street, directly south to South Thomaston Village, four miles. Standard time will govern the program.

It is expected that Phoebe Pendleton Crosby of Islesboro and New York, a noted soprano, and Walter Gile, of Boston, will be among the artists on the program.

Dr. R. W. Bickford of Rockland is president of the Association.

J. H. McCuen, temporary manager of the Eastern Speakers' bureau of the Republican National Committee, announced Tuesday that the first campaign speaking engagements will be made for the State of Maine, which holds its election Sept. 7. McCuen said that 15 or 20 nationally known speakers would be sent to Maine, including possibly Senator Curtis, Vice Presidential nominee.

BRIGHTENED THE CORNER

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Passing the corner of Cedar and Brewster streets I noticed the Mike Armata house, recently the David Smith estate, glistening under a new coat of paint, as was the Christian Science Church. The two large buildings on opposite corners, all dressed up in their shiny new coats, certainly improve the looks of that corner. Inquiring who painted these buildings I learned that "Sim" Duncan and William "T" Burns were the artists, two old painters of 49 years' experience. The work speaks for itself.

D. A. Cascoe.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Poetry is the greatest literature, and pleasure in poetry is the greatest of literary pleasures.—Viscount Grey of Fallodon.

RENDEZVOUS
I count that friendship little worth
Which has not many things in store.
Great longings that no word can hold,
And passion-secrets waiting birth.

Along the slender wires of speech
Some message from the heart is sent
But who can tell the whole that's meant?
Our dearest thoughts are out of reach.

I have not seen thee, though mine eyes
Hold now the image of thy face:
In vain, through form, I strive in trace
The soul I love; that deeper lies.

A thousand accidents control
Our meeting here. Clasp hand in hand
And swear to meet me in that land
Where friends hold converse soul to soul.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
 Rockland, Me., Aug. 2, 1928.
 Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell who is the publisher of the Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of July 31, 1928, there was printed a total of 6,273 copies.
 Before me, FRANK B. MILLER,
 Notary Public.

Wisdom's ways are ways of peaceandness, and all her paths are peace.
 —Proverbs 3:17

The August review of general business conditions issued by the National City Bank of New York declares that the optimistic now has distinctly the better of the argument as to whether 1928 is to show improvement over 1927 or the reverse. The last quarter of 1927 showed a let-down of activity which caused misgivings about the new year, but the first quarter of 1928 showed recovery, the second quarter gave increased confidence and the beginning of the third quarter has established a general belief that the year's record will surpass that of 1927. Retail trade has improved with the advent of more seasonable weather than that of the spring months of June. The crop situation as a whole is good, with the prices of most agricultural products better than last year, the iron and steel industry is having the greatest year in its history, which is significant of general industrial activity. The employment situation is better than a year ago, and the national income is higher. The country is holding its own in foreign trade and although it has lost approximately $600,000,000 in gold during the past year, the financial situation is essentially sound. Interest rates are higher, but this is to be regarded as a wholesome development, the effect of which will be to curb the tendency to undesirable credit expansion. In brief this is good campaign material for the supporters of Mr. Hoover. The country has never been known to turn against the Republican party in the midst of a general prosperity.

There is a steadily growing opinion that it is not the huge metropolitan dailies that sway opinion. Rather it is the county weekly, the small city daily, whose influence is felt in the community which it serves. That noted editorial writer, Arthur Brisbane, who daily supplies a syndicate column for many of the leading papers, in a paragraph here appended expresses similar views.

The smaller newspapers of the country (the writer) are the most important newspapers, and incidentally, in proportion to their circulation, their advertising results are the biggest, and their advertising rates the smallest in the country. They are read through from end to end. Every copy of circulation means an entire family, not a family that lives in one room with a can opener, but a family that owns its own house, and land around it, at least ninety times out of a hundred; a family that buys everything from the roof on the house, from the hat on mother's head to the shoes on the boys' feet. The service that the publishers render to the public is, in my opinion, the most important service, rendered by any class of citizens in the United States. The country editors are distributors of information; they reach the minds of the boys that leave the farms, and they are the nation's mental police force.

Mr. Ford, who on Monday arrived at the honorable age of sixty-five, told the interviewers that he expects to do more work in the next five years than he has done in the past twenty.

"Men of 65," he said, "perhaps should not do too much running and jumping, but that is no reason they should not do as much work with the mind as everyone, and better work. You take all the experience and judgment of men over 50 out of the world and there wouldn't be enough left to run it. Youngsters have their place and are necessary, but the experience and judgment of men over 50 are what give purpose and meaning to younger men's efforts."

The great motor-car manufacturer has the proper view, brought out by his own experience. The world for the older man has changed. He no longer at three-score retires to the chimney corner, spending idle days in brooding on the past and muttering up the chimney. He is out in the market-place, smartly dressed, close shaven mind and body alert, repulsing the younger shoulder that would force him against the wall, and refusing to recognize any statute of age limitation.

Another indication of the turn to Hoover—they are multiplying on many sides—is the reversal of the attitude of the Progressive Magazine, which had been a strong opponent of Mr. Hoover, previous to his nomination, but in its August issue warmly announces its support of that gentleman. The articles it prints in the connection declare that his ability and experience especially recommend him to those groups of German-Americans who because of their humanitarian principles, with a high record of efficiency and economy should naturally throw to Mr. Hoover their full measure of support. Following upon the visit to that candidate by a committee of leading German-Americans, pledging him their

QUEER GAME AT BELFAST

Rockland, With Seven Run Lead, Has To Be Content With Tie—Camden Pressing Belfast.

Coming Games
 Tonight—Rockland at Camden.
 Friday—Belfast at Rockland.
 Saturday—Belfast at Camden at 1:30 and Camden at Belfast at 4:30.

The League Standing
 Those who had thought the League race a cinch for Belfast are now revising their opinions, somewhat, for Camden is only a game and a half behind Belfast, and looms as a very dangerous competitor. Rockland has an advantage; its position is not threatened. The standing:

Team	Won	Lost	P.C.
Belfast	12	7	.632
Camden	11	9	.550
Rockland	6	12	.333

Camden 1, Rockland 0

Sounds like a close game, but as a matter of fact there were only three innings in which a Rockland man saw first base and only one in which Rockland had more than one man on the base paths. The Line City outfit was partaking of the diet prescribed by Stan Klosek and eating naught else except what the hollow of his hand contained. The big fellow certainly had his revenge for the spanking which the same team gave him not so long ago.

The fact that Camden made only one score was due to some exceedingly sharp fielding, one particularly brilliant play being the double by Wotton and McCall, when the bases were choked.

Rockland offered a new battery for the fans' approval, the box-man being Turner, late of the Salem New England League team. He held Camden hitless until fifth inning when Masterman found him for a single and Loftus for a double. Small forced Masterman at second, but Loftus' double left men on second and third. Small was thrown out at the plate when Walls hit to Conway. It was a sharp, well timed play, and Camden would probably have been blanked if a wild pitch had not allowed Loftus to score. This was the only run made in the game, and the only thing that marred a fine pitching exhibition by Turner. Three of the six hits credited to Camden were "scratches."

The new catcher, McCall, who comes from Woburn, Mass., made a good impression.

An odd feature of the game was the fact that Camden hit only flies to Rockland outfielders, while Rockland batters hit 10 into the hands of the three vigilant guardians of Camden's outer garden.

The only Rockland men who hit the apple safely were Eychand, Wotton and Turner, who made one safety apiece.

And because of this the Rockland team descended another step on the cellar stairway. The score:

Camden	ab	r	h	tb	po	a	e
Cole, ss	3	0	0	0	3	0	0
Ogier, lf	4	0	1	1	3	0	0
Navigan, cf	4	0	1	1	3	0	0

Rockland 8 Belfast 8
 When Belfast went to bat in the last half of the third inning at Belfast last night the score stood 8 to 1 in favor of Rockland and the followers of the home team were indulging in a joyous over the prospects of certain victory. Milliken had been hampered to all points of the compass, and with the exception of Paiement's triple which had driven in Belfast's lone score, the home team had been able to do little or nothing with Aube. The tables were turned with startling suddenness. With two down Belfast began to indulge in the hammering process, and with the aid of an infield error reduced Rockland's lead to four. Even then nobody on the Rockland side of the fence became unduly alarmed, for four runs is a big lead with the game half gone and the opposing pitcher tottering.

But in the fifth young Milliken ceased to totter, and the Rockland batters went to the beach in two three order. Thereafter the visiting team never got within spy-glass distance of home plate.

Three singles and a double netted Belfast two more runs in the fifth but she did not score in the sixth. In the seventh Kunitz led off with a single and Clancy walked. Kunitz scored on Thurston's single and the score was tied when Clancy crossed the pan on Paiement's ground-out. A pretty heave by our new catcher McCall, snuffed Thurston at third, and lost to Belfast her best chance of winning.

Belfast had two men on in the eighth, but Clancy failed utterly to solve the delivery of Davidson, who had meantime replaced Aube.

Those who like lots of batting surely got their money's worth in this game, in which seven batters hit for extra bases. The score:

BIG FAIR NEXT WEEK

Rockland To Kick Up Heels In Old Home Week Celebration—Parade, Carnival, Bouts, Races.

The stage is being set for the Rockland Fair and Old Home Week celebration, which has its beginning next Monday, and a surprise awaits everybody who goes out to the modernized trotting park on the New County road.

Monday will be known as Children's Day, and many special features are being planned for the entertainment of the young folks who visit the Rockland Trotting Park.

At 4 p. m. Monday will take place the big Home Week parade in Rockland, for which a half hundred floats have already been entered, along with other features.

The battleship Wyoming will be in port and her men will have shore leave every day. A program of fistic bouts will be given at the Park one night by the glassy boxers from the ship.

Ben Williams' big shows have already arrived and a tented city is springing up inside the grounds.

The detailed program will appear in Saturday's issue.

The program of racing events offered for the Rockland Fair has never had a superior on that track, and with purses aggregating $3,700 ought to furnish some rare sport. Here is the card for the three racing days—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday:

Tuesday—2:24 trot, purse $400; 2:13 pace, purse $400; 2:19 mixed, purse, $400.
 Wednesday—2:15 mixed, purse $400; 2:19 trot, purse $400; 2:17 pace, purse $400.
 Thursday—Free for all, purse $500; 2:22 pace, purse $400; 2:28 trot, purse $400.

Pick a straw out of the broom? No! Electricity is the cook!

Everybody remembers the cake that Mother used to make—baked to perfection—light, yet richly satisfying—delicately browned.

And, too, we remember how hard it was for her—working over a hot stove—testing it so often with a straw—the crumb, uncertainty and worry heaped upon her with the rest of the household duties.

Today it is different. Mother prepares the food at her convenience—places it in the oven—sets the Time and Temperature Controls and Electricity does the rest.

The only men who have been longer on the membership rolls of Aurora Lodge than the late Edward R. True of Washington, D. C. are Capt. J. F. Gregory and George D. Hayden, who were initiated a few months previously in 1865.

Forty entries have already been received for the Old Home Week parade Monday afternoon and not three as stated in another paper yesterday. The committee would gladly see a hundred of 'em. Anyhow the public will see a dandy parade.

If Wednesday, Aug. 15, is stormy the field meeting of Knox Academy of Arts and Sciences, at Knox Arboretum will be held the first pleasant day. But as Curator Lermond put in an early order for real out of doors weather there will probably be no postponement.

In response to a query in Tuesday's issue that it was "Squire" Ingraham, father of W. E. Ingraham who used to keep the restaurant on Atlantic wharf. Will somebody now tell us when Barnum's Circus made its last visit to Rockland?

The influx of summer visitors is bringing to attention some classy motor cars. At the Fireproof Garage yesterday was noted 3 Rolls Royces one of which bore a Texas license and is said to have cost $18,000, and four Pierce Arrows. Most of these cars belong to guests at the Samoset, who probably would not be here but for the existence of that hotel.

Concerning H. W. Keep who went on the Central Maine Power Co.'s retired list yesterday, the Exciter said: "Mr. Keep is a member of Central Maine Power Company's honor society, the 'Old Friends Club,' formerly claiming to be the youngest of the old. His many friends all over Company's territory extend best wishes for many happy years as a retired employee."

Mrs. Mary Harris of Georgia will be the national speaker. Mrs. Armistead is director of the evangelistic department of the National W.C.T.U. and from her brilliant past work has earned the sobriquet of "The Georgia Cyclone."

In Saturday's issue of The Courier-Gazette, Mrs. Veazie describes a new weed in her yard. "From her description," writes a correspondent, "one would think it was the pretty little speed-well—thyme-leaved speedwell—or in other words Veronica serpyllifolia. It surely must belong to that family if it is not the thyme-leaved. It used to grow profusely in the yards about here but we have failed to find it this year and we miss its bright beauty."

Harry W. French was struck by an automobile on the Owl's Head road Tuesday night and received multiple bruises which will confine him to his home for some time. He is reported as fairly comfortable this morning though still bed. Mr. French was leaving his own car to enter the Perry cream parlor when he was hit by a machine operated by Dr. J. A. Richan. There were several cars parked in the vicinity and the Richan car was proceeding slowly also more serious results might have followed.

"They are Hell-bent." ## NEW PLANT STARTS

Central Maine Touches the Button On Androscoggin Development.

Central Maine Power Company's latest hydroelectric development on the Androscoggin River, a 5500 horsepower station, located on the Lewiston side of the present Deer Rips development and automatically controlled from that plant, was put in operation yesterday. The new station is just below the recently completed Gulf Island station making a series of three developments within a mile, from which over 41,000 horsepower is generated.

This station, although comparatively small has many unique features. In the first place it is automatic. A 300 foot river span carries the main generator leads and also cables for complete station operation across the river to the Deer Rips station, on the Auburn side of the river, from where the operators will control the unit. The unit can be started up, wheel gates opened, generators brought up to speed, thrown on the lines and set to carry any desired load by operators in the other station.

These operators can also open and close the windows for ventilation, an important point in maintaining room temperature.

The water wheel is of the high speed type built like a ship's rudder turned back end to, and containing five blades. The water passages are wide enough for a large man to pass through with ease. This particular type wheel was developed for the Louisville Hydroelectric Company, Kentucky, and has an expected efficiency, based on tests of 94 percent.

This is as efficient as any wheel yet developed. The draft tube is the second one of its type used, the first one being developed for the famous Conowingo development on the Susquehanna river. The Conowingo tubes were decidedly larger, however, being for wheels with a capacity of 54,000 horsepower as against 5500 for the Androscoggin development.

This development follows closely the Gulf Island development and was constructed largely because of conditions resulting from building Gulf Island dam which entirely changed the regular flow of the river below the dam. Previously the old Deer Rips station, a mile below, had utilized the normal flow of the river with a slight regulation of flow by means of some pondage. But the large reservoir created by the Gulf Island dam made available a useful storage of a half billion cubic feet of water, in addition to the regular river flow. The normal amount of water passing through Gulf Island wheels is greatly in excess of the amount required by the Deer Rips station and to utilize this water which otherwise would be wasted was the reason for the Company building a second station at Deer Rips.

Construction work on this development started last October and carried on through the winter without any let-up, employing an average of 110 men throughout the ten months of construction. Taking out the cost of equipment and material, there was expended on payrolls alone a total of $125,000. With few exceptions the entire personnel was made up of local men.

EXTENSION WORK
Will Get a Valuable Boost Through Additional Fund.

In discussing the Copper Ketchikan Act under which Maine received this year for the first time $20,000 additional funds for extension work, Director Morrill pointed out that it was the purpose of the act to further develop the co-operative extension system in this and other states in accord with the Smith-Lever Act under which Maine receives most of its extension funds.

"While we do have in most of the counties, a county agent and a home demonstration agent, yet it has been my experience that either extension agents had been unable to organize more communities for extension work or to limit the profits which were being made, because of the time which they had available. In many states county club agents have been appointed to take charge of boys' and girls' club work, thereby, relieving the county agent and the home demonstration agent of this responsibility."

"The act in total appropriation of $500,000 was made, each state and the territory of Hawaii to receive $20,000 annually, providing the terms of the act are accepted by the state. Inasmuch as the Maine legislature was not in session at this time the governor has acted in behalf of the state and given approval to the terms of the act. In order to receive the appropriation of $20,000 annually it will be necessary that the Maine legislature at its next session approve the terms of the Copper Ketchikan Act."

"An additional sum of $500,000 to be divided among the states in accordance with the proportion which their rural population of the United States, becomes available next year, beginning July 1 and for each year thereafter if an offset is provided within the State. It is expected that Maine will receive approximately $4,500 additional if an equal amount is provided to offset the federal appropriation for Maine."

"It is clearly evident from one of the clauses in the act that these funds are intended for the development of the county extension organization, since it specified that at least 80 percent of the money must be utilized for the payment of salaries of county extension agents. We now have plans under consideration for the use of these funds in Maine, which will call for the use of a large part of the entire amount for work in the counties."

NO AGE LIMIT FOR WORK
Experience and Value of Men Over 50 Is Cited By Henry Ford

If there is an age limit for work, Henry Ford hasn't found it, he said Monday.

The motor magnate, who was 65 years old that day, told interviewers that he expects to do more in the next five years than he has in the last 20. The automobile manufacturer now is interested in increasing production of his new car.

"Men of 65," he said, "perhaps should not do too much running and jumping, but that is no reason they should not do as much work with the mind as everyone and better work."

"You take all the experience and judgment of men over 50 out of the world and there wouldn't be enough left to run it. Youngsters have their place and are necessary but the experience and judgment of men over 50 are what gives purpose and meaning to younger men's efforts."

Asked how much money had he lost in making the change from the model T to the model A car, Mr. Ford replied:

"We can't lose what doesn't belong to us. The profits we made on 15,000,000 model T cars wasn't our money. The public paid it to us. The money profits came from the people and we look upon them simply as a public trust, which must be put back into the manufacture of something which will help men and women to better and more productive lives."

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear one, Archie M. York, who was taken from us three years ago, Aug. 1, 1925.
'Twas very hard to part with him,
To feel that he must die;
And see death's sail upon his brow
And in that deep bright eye,
Oh, may we strive to meet him there,
Beyond the bright blue sky.
Where pain and sorrow never comes
And loved ones never die.
Never will he be forgotten by the mother Mrs. D. H. Weed, brothers, Oscar E. York, Dyer and Parker and sister Blanche Sherman, Rockland, Aug. 1, 1925.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
Whereas it has pleased Divine Providence to remove from Earth a beloved and distinguished member of the Democratic County Committee, the Honorable Jesse Overlock, late of Washington.
Be it Resolved, that the Democratic County Committee, representing the Democratic Party of Knox County, give public expression to its high character, his unswerving loyalty and sincere devotion to the principles of his Party. To him public office was a public trust. He brought to his rugged honesty and a determination to do his full duty. To him was given in a large way the respect and confidence of his constituents regardless of political affiliation.
Be it further resolved that in commemoration of his life and public service, a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, a copy spread upon our records, and a copy published in the County Newspapers.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says: "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall's.

It has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the large, evacuating bowel called the colon.

The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall's Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c to-day at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.

MRS. JARLEY SCORES

Her Appearance in Thomaston Marked By a Flattering Success.

The one and only Mrs. Jarley favored Thomaston Tuesday evening when she presented her world famous chambers of wax figures to a capacity audience in Watts hall for the benefit of the Thomaston Nurse Association.

It is 21 years since she last brought her great educational and moral entertainment to enlighten and uplift and she spoke truly when she assured the eager spectators that every person, no matter how well informed, will learn some points of geographic, literary and historical importance that he could not obtain from any other source.

The curtain first rose upon a group of characters from American History, and one saw enacted, through the agency of the remarkable mechanism contained in the figures some scenes from their lives. This was followed by an entirely new departure on Mrs. Jarley's part, the chamber of children. Her third chamber was particularly interesting and instructive, being one of travel with figures from far-away lands; and that the miscellaneous chamber treated the audience to a greater perfection of action than any of the characters, since, by a more modern contrivance, many of the figures were able to sing and dance in truly life-like manner, though of course there was always danger of their running down before they had quite finished. The audience, however, was most gracious in overlooking any small difficulty in view of the great benefit they were obtaining from the entertainment.

As a whole, Mrs. Jarley was much disturbed at the failure of President Coolidge to respond. Oiling his joints and shaking him up proving ineffectual, she was obliged to dismiss the matter with a resigned, "It's no use. He does not choose to run."

Like Mrs. Jarley, the writer "need not dilute on it at length," but it is a temptation to pass on to those who had to lose this great opportunity, some information dispensed so freely, such as the bad ends of conquerors.

As witness the glories of Alexander who died at the age of 33 as a consequence of living before the 18th amendment, and Caesar, dying among his Roman punches. How timely these lessons!

That all is not smooth sailing for the resourceful head of the entertainment bureau was confessed by Mrs. Jarley when she brought forward the immortal William Shakespeare and confessed that when she was in Chicago she dared not display an Englishman, so compromised and called him Longfellow. But no compromises were needed upon this occasion, and applause greeted every figure shown.

Special enthusiasm was aroused by the excellent playing of an orchestra under the baton of George R. Mathews of New Britain, Conn., and regret was expressed that it could not have played even more than the generous program given.

Violins, Bertha Luce, Howard Swift, Forrest Stone, Phyllis Belasco; clarinets, Luther Clark, Joseph Patton, Thomas Fleming; G. W. Bligh; saxophones, John Mathews, Edgar Ames; cornet, Kenneth V. White; drums, Ernest Munro; piano, Margaret Copeland.

To the delight of the many friends and admirers of Miss Adelaide Cross of Rockland, she appeared in Irish songs and dance, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Harold Jackson.

Altogether it was a memorable evening and should prove to have been a profitable one, although the proceeds, augmented by the sale of candy, are not known at this writing.

Thomaston is rather well known for its cooperative spirit when any good cause is afoot, and every one is so ready to do his or her bit that when it comes to giving credit where credit is due, the task is well nigh impossible. Furthermore the most indefatigable workers slip modestly into the background, considering their efforts merely as a matter of course. To all these splendid unnamed friends and co-workers the Thomaston Nurse

J. Frank Morton

J. Frank Morton, 82, died at the home of his nephew, Zadoc Knight, Camden street last Tuesday. He was born in Rockland April 24, 1846, the son of the late William and Martha (Brewster) Morton. He was married in 1866 to Mary Alice Aldrich of Rockport, who survives him. The greater part of his life was spent in Rockport where he was well known and highly respected. He was one of Rockport's oldest citizens, a man of integrity, and will be missed in the community. In 1898 he moved to Thomaston where he was guard in the Maine State Prison for twenty years. In May 1918, he returned to Rockport where he had since resided. Besides a wife, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Lottie Doherty of Roxbury, Mass. He had been a member of St. Paul's Lodge, A.F. & A.M., for over 40 years, and held the office of Master for four years. He was a member of the Advent church. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Zadoc Knight, Rev. William Brewster of Beals of Rockport. Interment will be in Mountain View cemetery, Camden.

EVOLUTION OF GAS

Recent statistics show that gas fuel serves the immense total of 52,000,000 persons in the United States, through almost nine million stoves, 3,400,000 water heaters, 4,400,000 space heaters and several hundred thousand central heating systems. The great increase in household gas use in the future will be in these central heating systems. Its development in this direction has barely begun, and since 1919 is said to have gained 2,000 percent. The evolution of gas is another milestone on the road leading to greater living comfort.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

"Hoover or Havo?" is the campaign slogan coined by Senator Moses.

The attack of William Allen White, Kansas editor, on Gov. Smith's legislative record as to liquor and vice will have a material effect on the Democratic nominee's status in the voters' eyes Mr. Moses said.

Opposition of Vance C. McCormick, former Democratic national chairman, to the nomination of Gov. Smith, as the Democratic presidential nominee, is crystallized in an editorial to be carried in the Harrisburg (Penn.) Patriot, which McCormick publishes. The editorial repudiates Smith for his anti-dry view as governor of New York and his recent declaration to the House of Representatives for modification of the prohibition laws and says Smith's "belated telegram to his party's convention at Houston was a contradiction and repudiation of his party's platform."

Mr. McCormick, as chairman of the Democratic national committee in 1918 directed President Wilson's campaign for reelection. Subsequently he was appointed chairman of the war trade board and a member of the peace commission. Four years ago he supported William Gibbs McAdoo in his fight against Smith at the New York convention.

A POWERFUL AID

A short time ago a 50-car trainload of tractors, to be used in the cultivation of cotton, was shipped into Mississippi. It is stated that these machines will do the work of 1200 men and 5200 mules in drawing multiple row cultivators. The Florence, Alabama, Times-News, in commenting on this, says that "there will probably be no more significant development in Southern agriculture during 1928." The tractor has given the farmer new standards of speed, efficiency and labor saving. It will be interesting to observe the progress in cotton cultivation in the Mississippi delta that will be affected by the utilization of these tractors.

A POWERFUL BODY

Maine Teachers' Association Is Largest in the United States.

Announcement is made of the 26th annual convention of the Maine Teachers' Association with the highest state membership of teachers in the United States in Bangor, Oct. 24, 25 and 26, when the program will include the following: Wednesday evening, get-together meetings or social evening; Thursday forenoon, special feature program; Thursday afternoon, departmental meetings; Thursday evening, visual education session; Friday forenoon, departmental meetings; Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, annual business meeting; Friday evening, general session. Revision of the constitution will be the outstanding feature of business. Adelbert W. Gordon, general secretary of the Maine Teachers' Association, Augusta, calls attention to the complete returns for the 1927 convention held in Portland, showing the really remarkable membership record of 7,054. This is 417 more than the previous record membership of 6,637 in 1925, when the meeting was held in Portland.

The record attained in 1927 again gives the Maine Teachers' Association state-wide membership, according to National Education Association standards, in fact 110 percent, and in a table, since published by the National Education Association, the Maine Teachers' Association is given first place in relative rank for membership of all the state associations in the United States. This is a distinction of which Maine educators are proud and will work to maintain in the coming convention. Portland undoubtedly will send the largest delegation.

The committee appointed to draft a new constitution for the Maine Teachers' Association expect to be able to place copies in the hands of members well before the autumn meeting. Copies of the constitutions of every state association have been received, a number of which have recently been adopted in a new and largely revised form. These will be of much assistance in preparing a constitution meeting the requirements of the Maine Teachers' Association.

A FINE PROGRAM

Offered For Monday Night By J. Paul Jameson and Associated Artists.

Several musical events scheduled for the late summer season will be ushered in next Monday evening when J. Paul Jameson, violinist, will be featured in a concert with assisting artists at the Littlefield Memorial church at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Jameson is a splendid example of what faith and ambition will accomplish. Gifted with a natural love for music, particularly for the violin, he was determined to develop his talent even with no financial assistance in view. After his graduation from the Rockland High school June 1926 he was employed as "bellhop" at the Samoset where he became acquainted with Morris F. Loughurst, professor of music at Dartmouth College, who formed a deep interest in the lad, and was instrumental in having him appear in a concert at the hotel with Miss Gladys Austin, soprano.

In the audience was Mrs. Leonard L. Hill of New York, president of the Criterion Club, who has done much philanthropic work among young students. Mrs. Hill, too, became interested in Mr. Jameson, and through her influence the young man has been able to complete two years' work at the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, with the prospect of completing the remaining two years. Mrs. Hill could have no more eloquent appreciation of her interest shown than by the serious application Mr. Jameson is giving to his musical training.

At the Conservatory Mr. Jameson is studying violin with Roland Reasner; voice with F. Morse (Whipple); piano with Miss Whitehouse, and solfeggio with Mr. Lenone. While at the Conservatory he lives at the New England School of Theology, of which a former Rockland boy, Guy Linwood Vannah is principal, and evenings attends Bible classes, where he is receiving valuable training, as he is of a devoutly religious nature, and may on the completion of his musical education enter the evangelistical field for which he seems aptly fitted.

In his concert of Monday evening he will have as assisting artists, Louise Bickford Sylvester, coloratura soprano; Edna Gregory, pianist, a student at the Faelton Piano-forte School, Boston; Dwight Mosher in readings, a student at the Eastern Theological Seminary, Philadelphia; Shyl Jones, soprano; Doris Dargett, contralto, C. Havenor Casens, tenor and the choir of the Littlefield Memorial Church which will be conducted by Mr. Jameson in addition to the violin numbers which he contributes to the program. Prof. Loughurst, Mrs. Reta Calderwood Robinson and Miss Gregory will act as accompanists.

Tickets are on sale at the Rockland Rubber Co., Corner Drug Store, Chisholm's store at the Brook, the MaBelle Beauty Shop, S. E. Welt, Chase's Repair Shop, Harbor View Tea Room.

THOSE ADIRONDACK HENS

They're Either Good Layers Or Their Owners Are Prodigious Liars.

The honor of the Adirondack hen has been vindicated. Ever proud of their ability to lay eggs prodigious in size, Adirondack fowls have been in a class, well-nigh by themselves. For many years they have retained the record for producing large-size eggs.

Word recently reached Essex, N. Y., that a hen owned by Mrs. Cora Lovell at Fairmont, Minn., claimed world honors by producing an egg measuring more than seven inches one way and nine inches the other.

This report reached the ears of a hen owned by William Fisher of Essex. Stung, the hen laid an egg measuring eight and one-fourth by 10 inches.

RAMBLES AFIELD

Here, There and Yonder,
Touching the Alluring
Things of Spring.

[Twelfth Ramble]

He didn't buzz; he squeaked, for the noise he made with his wings was such a tiny noise and so high pitched that nobody would think of the word "buzz" in connection with it. He came quite often when I was a small child and I frequently heard him called a "sweat bee" and I was told that he would not or could not sting. He was not quite as large as a common house fly and quite a bit more slender and dainty in shape. Not slender like a wasp either, but with yellow markings so that I never felt free to experiment with him, notwithstanding those assurances that he would not sting.

I never see one nowadays and I wonder why. I also wonder what may be his real name, for surely "sweat bee" is no name at all. I had a small, rather chunky wasp as a visitor in my living room yesterday which reminded me of the little fellow I used to see so much as his buzz was fine and sharp and he was smaller than the ordinary wasp but this fellow could surely sting for I held him down with an empty spoon and distinctly saw his sting before disposing of him.

Queer what a difference there is in the various members of the stinging tribe! A desultory sort of friendship has always existed between big velvety bumblebees and my adventurous self and when they come to sip honey from my columbine blossoms I like to talk to them and pat them gently with one finger as they sip. Many times have I offered a tentative finger when one has blundered into the house and beaten himself frantically against the window panes, and usually he accepts my overtures gratefully, remaining on my hand until I can get him to an open door and liberate him, but a hornet—Ah, a hornet has a far different disposition and will chase me all over a ten acre lot if he discovers me, and this without any provocation whatever.

If one gets into my shed he remains there until he chooses to vacate, while I plod wearily round some other way to get into the connecting barn after my hoe or my kindling wood or whatever. I have no use whatever for Mr. Hornet and I have no desire to learn what he wants of me, for once, just once in my life, he overtook me, gave me one jab on the shin bone, and my feet went out from under me as though a battering ram had struck me amidships. It was nearly half an hour before I could stand once more and continue my berry picking. I limped for almost a week, too.

I am perfectly willing to acknowledge that I am afraid, actually afraid of a hornet, and as far as this locality is concerned there is no other insect which has the power to give me any real feeling of fear, though of course I do not enjoy the society of those who bite and sting. Certainly I do not enjoy stepping on a wasp's nest and having the little fellows gather on my ankles and try which one can jab hardest. But I experience none of that insane terror, that panicky fear that I have when one lone hornet begins to follow me about.

Once at Verona Park, when following a tangled path in the woods far from other human presence, I almost walked into a hornet's nest whereupon an angry buzz arose and the out-guards came flying about my head. We were long skirts in those days and as I turned and ran I did some quick thinking, and gathering up the skirt of my dress I turned it over my head just as my foot caught in a root and I went sprawling, face downward on the ground. There was nothing further I could do except hold my breath and lie perfectly quiet, until they had ceased their investigations and returned to their home. When their buzzing stopped I cautiously uncovered one eye at a time and gradually unwrapped myself, rose to my feet and ran once more. The few minutes that I lay there under cover sweltering in the hot sun seemed at least half an hour, but I considered myself fortunate to escape being stung to death.

There are persons who handle honey bees and let them swarm all over their hands, but I stand at a safe distance from their hive, and even then they send out scouts to investigate me and every few minutes one will fly past my head until I am glad to retire and study some insect that is less temperamental.

Yesterday a friend brought me a curious insect which I have never before encountered and I am anxious to learn its name. It is about three inches long from stem to stern though its head and body extend only half the length of its four gray narrow wings, which are veined with a darker color and folded after the manner of the moth family, making the creature look abnormally long and slender—in fact only an inch wide in his widest part and in some parts only half that. He has formidable jaws, resembling those of some species of beetle. Two straight, very slender antennae grace his head and the part which seems to be his neck reminds me of a lobster.

I am hoping for an opportunity to transfer him to the Arboretum collection and to discover to what tribe, clan or nation he belongs. Unfortunately he was quite dead when I received him, so I could not experiment with those big hard jaws, but I feel very sure he could bite and bite hard when he was living. Here's hoping some "Entomologist" will be able to help me with my problem, for I confess I am "stumped."

At the CAPITAL

(Special to The Courier-Gazette.)

Augusta, Aug. 1—A proposal to license billboards may come up at the next session of the legislature, according to reports hereabouts, the idea being to make it unpleasant and unprofitable enough for outdoor advertising companies so that they will cease to clutter up Maine scenery with their gaudy advocacies of chewing gum, gasoline, tires, soap, cigarettes and whatnot.

The problem of billboards comes up each summer, but as yet no perfect solution has been reached.

It has also come up at each of the last two sessions of the legislature with the result that in 1925 a law was passed making it unlawful to erect or maintain advertising signs along the highways within the road limits. This law can apparently be obeyed by having the signs placed on private land but near enough to the highway so that they can and must be seen by all who pass.

Efforts to prohibit the placing of outdoor advertising matter on land or buildings of private owners failed on grounds of unconstitutionality, it being held that persons had the right to rent their property for such purposes if they saw fit.

In 1927 the legislature was asked to pass a law providing for high taxation of billboards but this also failed on the rocks of unconstitutionality. Thus we have the billboards still with us and from all quarters complaints are heard against this so-called menace to scenery.

The matter will undoubtedly come up at the next session of the legislature, and the indications are that the next attack will be by way of a licensing proposal. Many lines of business are already required to take out licenses in Maine, as well as in other states, and there seems to be no legal reason why the billboard business might not also come under such a form of control, it is said by those who are studying the question.

Maine school teachers don't get enough of school during the year hence they go to school during the summer as well in large numbers, it has been found out by the State department of education which keeps close tabs on all things connected with Maine education.

Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, head of the department, is authority for the statement that between 30% and 40% of Maine teachers are taking summer courses in Maine or elsewhere. "Between 1700 and 1800 teachers are enrolled in the summer normal schools at Gorham, Castine, Farmington, Machias and Presque Isle and the University of Maine," he said.

At Castine the usual special course for rural leaders is being given and the enrollment limit of 100 is complete. W. D. Hall, principal of the normal school, and Richard J. Libby of the rural education division of the State educational department are in charge. They are assisted by Miss Florence Hale of the State department, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford L. Peble of Presque Isle, Mrs. Helen Hanco of Madawaska and Miss Katherine Thomas of the Buffalo, N. Y. teachers' college. There are in addition some specialists and lecturers who give short courses.

Speaking of this rural leadership course, Dr. Thomas said that it has demonstrated its value many times. "Rural helping teachers have made a very definite place for themselves and are doing much towards the efficiency of the state's rural schools," he said.

Practically all the exhibit space in the Maine buildings on the grounds of the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., has already been engaged, and the prospects are that Maine will make an excellent showing at this year's exposition which will be held during the week of September 16-22.

The State department of agriculture will feature apples and potatoes and the fish and game department will exhibit tanks of live fish and will also have several varieties of Maine wild animals. Many lines of Maine manufactures will be shown including cotton and wool textiles, shoes, canned goods, wood novelties and canoes.

The quarantine against the European corn borer which heretofore has been almost wholly confined to towns in York and Cumberland counties, has this year been extended east to include Brunswick, Bath and Topsfield as the result of the finding of the pest in those towns by inspectors from the United States department of agriculture.

Quarantine is established annually by authority of the State commissioner of agriculture, and the regulations prohibit the transportation of several kinds of vegetables and flowers into unquarantined areas until the plants have been inspected and found free from the borer. Among the special delicacies liked by the corn borer are green corn, celery, green peas in the pod, beans in the pod, beets with tops, spinach, rhubarb, oat or rye straw; cut flowers or entire plants of gladiolus, aster, cosmos, zinnia, chrysanthemum, hollyhock and dahlias.

The agricultural department has a force of men at work in the Portland markets inspecting vegetables intended for shipment to other parts of the State. These men go to work at 5 a. m. so that the goods may be released for early morning trade. In one day these men found and destroyed a large number of borers in a shipment of Massachusetts beets, and this alone was almost enough to make up for the cost of maintaining the force.

It seems the corn borer can be fought only by eternal vigilance, and once it gets a hold, it can do untold damage to a field of crops. It has become important enough to engage the attention of the President and Congress, and emergency appropriations were made to combat its ravages.

Maine now needs a new variety of apple—one which will have all the beauty and flavor of the McIntosh, but which will have less tendency to scab and will be a better keeper. Experiments in crossing the McIntosh with varieties which do have these desired qualities are now in progress at the State experimental farm in Monmouth, and are being watched with interest. The hybrids are expected to begin bearing next year.

At The Samoset

Deep sea fishing is one of the many diversions of the guests at Samoset-by-the-Sea. One of the fishing parties last week was given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Buckner of New York. Mrs. Buckner also was hostess at a luncheon party given at the College Inn, Searsport, among her guests being Mrs. Stephen Hatch and son.

Mrs. Thomas A. Buckner, Jr., had a theatre party at Rockland composed of Miss Marjorie Lawbaugh, Miss Betty Potts, Miss Margaret Wilbur and Mrs. Sheridan W. Scott.

Eight-year-old Henry Heyburn celebrated his birthday last week, a cake with candles being a feature of the occasion.

Walter S. Benedict has arrived from Brooklyn to remain until the hotel closes.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Rueter, Jr. of Boston are visiting Mrs. William C. Rueter.

Fifty Samoset guests motored over to South Bristol to witness an exhibition golf match at the Wawenock Country Club between the Maine State champion Ernest Newnam, Samoset "pro" playing with Pete Moran Rockland Country Club, against Alexander Chisholm, Portland Country Club, and B. E. Hutchinson, Wawenock Country Club. Newnam and Moran won the match, 1 up, on the nineteenth hole.

Mrs. Henry H. Windsor, of Chicago, has returned to pass another season at the Samoset, accompanied by Mrs. E. B. Thompson and Miss Margaret Christie. Mrs. Windsor's son, Henry H. Windsor, Jr., editor of "Popular Mechanics," was married last season to Louise Hunter, Metropolitan opera star, who is expected here later in the season.

Two bridge parties were given during the last week. Mrs. George R. Westerfield of New York, winning the prize for high score at one; Mrs. Charles Thorley of New York, and Mrs. Vincent R. Schenck of Jersey City, winning first and second prizes, respectively, at the other bridge in the evening.

Charles J. Eisenlohr of Philadelphia, has arrived by motor and his yacht, the Charmarie, is expected at Rockland Breakwater shortly.

Arriving from Brooklyn for the remainder of the season are Mrs. Katherine T. McVine and her daughter, Miss Daisy McVine. Also from Brooklyn are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Storey.

A group of summer visitors at Christmas Cove motored over to the Samoset for luncheon Thursday. In the party were Mrs. Bates, Mrs. I. B. Rise, Miss Olive Prescott and Mrs. J. E. Prescott.

Miss Nettie Ricker, Mrs. A. B. Harper and Mrs. George Roberts motored over from Poland Spring for a visit to the Samoset this week.

Mrs. Stephen Hatch and son Nathan are among the week's arrivals from Albany.

To remain until September are Mrs. Joseph B. Dulany and her niece Miss Lucy B. Tull of New York.

New Yorkers arriving at the Samoset last week include S. L. Glassner, Miss Jean Glassner, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dreyfus, Mrs. Clarence Cary, Mrs. E. P. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Brown, Laurence C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Throckmorton, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Rietter, Mrs. William Gaston, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wheeler.

Others here are Mrs. F. L. Barstow, Mrs. M. J. Hanna, South Orange; Dr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Morris, of Morris, N. Y.; C. Grant Lafage, New York; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jennings, Deep River, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. T. Tucker Burr, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Parks, Chestnut Hill; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kane and C. H. Scott, Scarborough.

DAILY BIBLE SCHOOL

Being Conducted In Burkettsville—A Success In Washington.

Miss Villa C. Burroughs, assistant superintendent of Penobscot Bay Bethel Mission and field worker for the Knox County Sunday schools has just completed a daily Bible school in Washington which has been very successful. Nearly all of the children between the age of 4 and 14 were daily attendants.

The work carried on by Miss Burroughs differs in many ways from the usual vacation school, as the children are from communities where they have no Sunday school privileges, therefore the aim is to give the children as much religious instruction as they would receive in the usual Sunday school from spring to winter.

The enthusiasm with which the children take hold of the work in a daily Bible school of this character shows that Miss Burroughs has solved to a large extent the problem of religious instruction for the rural children of this county at least. She was ably assisted by Rev. E. N. Rogers, the local pastor, Miss Marcia Hatch, Miss Doris Overlock and Miss Olive Hatch of West Concord, Mass.

Miss Burroughs is now at Burkettsville where a school is to be conducted.

STRAND THEATRE

There is a real treat for all lovers of good drama now showing at the Strand, "Name the Woman." It is full of action, mystery, suspense and works up to an excellent surprise climax. The plot revolves around a murder trial. The accused is without a single corroborating witness unless a mysterious masked woman can be found. The prosecuting attorney is grilling the defendant and it appears that the case is going against him when the woman makes an entrance. She refuses to unmask and writes her name upon a slip of paper, handing it to the judge. What is written there causes the justice to declare a recess and take the woman to his chambers for private questioning.

"Gold Widows" starring Vera Reynolds and Harrison Ford, depicting the lives of neglected wives whose husbands are golf maniacs; in a colorful comedy and will be shown Friday and Saturday. The added attraction is "When the Law Rides" with Tom Tyler.—adv.
